BOTOANICAL BEASTS

I painted these hybrid creatures to merge the flora and fauna of Colombia and Canada. Each one stands for what it feels like to be an immigrant. There is always a push and pull inside you— the radiant amazement at embracing a new homeland, balanced against the deep, lingering yearning for the landscape and life we carry in our memories.

BOTOANICAL BEASTS

For Botanical Beasts, the work explores what it might mean to experience the world through the eyes of nature. Plants, flowers, trees and animals are not treated as passive scenery, but as living beings with their own presence, agency and perspective.

It is a reminder to enjoy this brief and extraordinary experience of being alive. To appreciate the invisible threads that bind all living things, to walk through life with hope, and to find beauty in both the joyful and the difficult. It is an invitation to see ourselves as a part of nature with its living, interconnected story.

INNER LANDSCAPES

MEMBERS SHOW

Every year, our Members' Exhibition reminds us just how much creativity lives in this community.

This year's exhibition, Inner Landscapes, explores the places we carry within us—memories, dreams, emotions, grief, identity, and the imagined worlds that shape how we see ourselves and one another. Each artist approaches the theme differently, creating a collection that is deeply personal, surprisingly varied, and uniquely Revelstoke.

One of the best things about a members' show is that there are no expectations. Professional artists hang alongside first-time exhibitors. Paintings, prints, textiles, photography, ceramics, sculpture—it's a true cross-section of our creative community and a chance to discover work you might not see anywhere else.

If you've been looking to start your art collection, this is also one of the best places to do it. Members' shows are full of original, affordable artwork, and every purchase directly supports a local artist. Come spend some time with Inner Landscapes.
